

TRE DITA™

Cuisine

Led by award-winning Chef Evan Funke, Tre Dita is Italian for "three fingers," a nod to the precise thickness of a properly cut bistecca Fiorentina, which the "cucina Toscana" serves from its wood-fired grill, along with handmade pastas, antipasti and more. At the heart of Tre Dita is Funke's renowned temperature- and humidity-controlled pasta lab, where guests can glimpse chefs hand-making pastas, from tagliatelle and tortelli, to pici and pappardelle. Vetrina Toscana has designated Tre Dita as the first certified Tuscan restaurant in the U.S., with menu highlights including Funke's signature Schiacciata Bianca, a focaccia toscana, Fiori di Zucca, ricotta-stuffed squash blossoms, Branzino Alla Brace, woodfire grilled sea bass, and the namesake Bistecca alla Fiorentina. The Italian-inspired dessert menu features a Classic Tiramisu, Torta della Nonna and a selection of housemade gelati and sorbetti.

Beverage

Home to more than 700 wines, Wine Director Kat Hawkins curated Tre Dita's exclusively Italian wine list with a focus on Tuscan varietals, small producers and select vintage bottles, as well as Vin Santo and grappa dessert wines. Bar Tre Dita offers a range of Italian spirits, global whiskies, St. Regis signature cocktails, and original cocktails that Bar and Spirits Director Diane Corcoran crafted in homage to Tuscany, such as the Tre, an Italian gin martini, and the Dita, a Tuscan spin on a Manhattan.

Experience

Located on the second floor of The St. Regis Chicago in downtown's Lakeshore East neighborhood, the award-winning David Collins Studio designed Tre Dita's modern Tuscan aesthetic. In the main dining room, dramatic 40-foot windows frame sweeping views of the Chicago River and Lake Michigan with a warm glow from the kitchen's open-flame, woodfire grill. A private mezzanine dining room overlooks the 3,200-square-foot restaurant below, while the adjacent Bar Tre Dita evokes a timeless elegance, with lush velvet lounge furniture and a 20-foot marble bar.

The St. Regis Chicago
401 E. Wacker Dr., 2nd Floor
Chicago, IL 60601
treditarestaurant.com

